

ZAPORIZHZHYA OBLAST LIVING LIBRARIES

27 March 2010

How has your view of the world changed today?

After our living library, it occurred to me that our planet is a home for different people, yes we are different but at the same time there is so much in common. It was easy to find topics to discuss,

What did you learn today about everyone being similar?

Humans are a big family, it was nice to know and find out something new about other countries, but in general we are really similar: we enjoy our life, we like to meet new people, we are ready to share our experience with others, it's great!

Would you come to a Living Library again, or recommend it to your friends? Why?

Certainly, I want to enlarge my knowledge and widen my impression about other countries and peoples.

ZAPORIZHZHYA OBLAST LIVING LIBRARIES

How has your view of the world changed today?

I managed to communicate with plenty of people who did protect me that internally we are all the same, with similar hopes, wishes and dreams.

What did you learn today about everyone being similar?

All of us are human beings who are perfect by nature because we are created by God.

Would you come to a Living Library again, or recommend it to your friends? Why?

For sure, because speech practice makes perfect.
